The Borough is transforming...

By NEAL FRIED, Economist

The Matanuska-Susitna Boom

Borough's growth continues to eclipse rest of state

"The Matanuska-Susitna Borough has been a continual economic standout in Alaska. Even in 2009 when employment stalled in Anchorage and the rest of the state, Mat-Su continued to add jobs."

-- from Alaska Economic Trends, Feb. 2013

MatSu's Economic Indicators That Provide Some Insight Into The Future

January 11th, 2017 Neal Fried, Economist

Because the Borough transforms, Mat-Su libraries transform.

In turn, our communities respond and support their libraries

"We love the summer reading at our library" -- Debbie Snider, Trapper Creek.

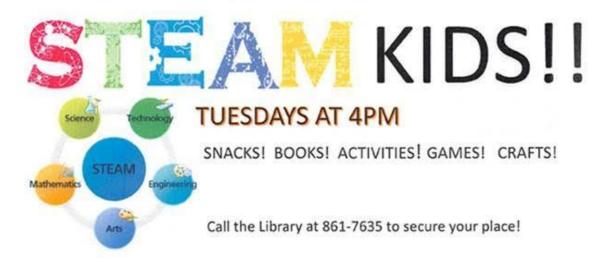

"I have been a library patron since I was old enough to get a library card. Brick and mortar libraries are so important in today's electronic world. They are especially important in a community like Willow that lacks a city center. I go to the library every week to look at new books, read the paper and look at magazines."—

I checked out a book and fixed my car. – Talkeetna Library Patron

"Wow! There are a lot of people here. Just goes to show we need more of this type of thing out here." - EL, mom of three from Palmer/Wasilla @ the art program

3rd — 5th GRADERS!!!

Big Lake Library has a new after school program:

*Big Lake Public Library

Our preschool and elementary story times meet weekly.

They enjoyed Shark Month last month. We had stories, songs, and crafts all about sharks.

Our BLTs
(Big Lake Teens)
are for kids 12 –
16. They, too, meet weekly.

Finding the Easter Eggs hidden by the teen program: BLTs = Big Lake Teens.

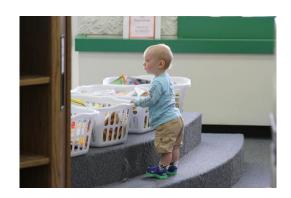

You gotta love Easter in Alaska!

Palmer Public Library

Eagle River Nature Center naturalist, Samantha, talks with kids and adults about parasites, highlighting the dangers AND benefits of parasites.

"The Palmer Public Library has something for everyone...The Palmer Public Library is a great resource for everyone in and around Palmer."

-- PalmerAlaska.net, sponsored by Valley Market Real Estate
